'Offered Rifles,' He Tells Probers

Coster Quiz—Federal agents investigating the fantastic affairs of F. Donald Coster today questioned Attorney Max Glazier of Boston, consul for the Dominican Republic, who told how he had been approached by two Boston men with 200,000 rifles to sell at $9 each.

U. S. GRILLS HUB COSTER AGENTS ON GUNS

Bulletin

Attorney Max Glazer, consul for the Dominican Republic, was the second New England consul to admit today that he had been approached by two Bostonians, who attempted to sell him 200,000 rifles, or any lesser number of guns.

Just about a year ago two men visited his office and after they had introduced themselves, told him they had 200,000 rifles at their disposal. During the conversation they told him if he could interest his government in enough of the rifles they could make a price of $9 each with him and he could name his own profit with his government.

Two Boston men, prospective gun merchants on the munitions staff of arch-swindler F. Donald Coster, were ordered by federal investigators today to explain their part in an alleged plot to dispose of a huge stock of rifles and bombing planes to the Republic of Mexico.

GUN DEAL by Philip Musica alias Coster, is revealed to probers by Frederick Wingersky, Boston lawyer. A contract for 100,000 rifles had been drawn up, Wingersky said.

U. S. authorities question two Boston men about offers, allegedly made by Coster agents, to sell guns and warplanes to Mexico.

Two Boston attorneys spurned Coster business and returned retainers.

Mexican consul in Boston tells of rejecting offers of rifles and munitions in alleged war offer by Coster firm.

U. S. Attorney John A. Canavan, who is investigating New England angles of the giant McKesson and Robbins swindle, told the Boston Evening American the local agents would be questioned on attempted arms smuggling charges.

Names and dates of proposals to run munitions in violation of neutrality laws were given Canavan by Alfred R. Shrigley, consul for the Republic of Mexico in Boston, who they allegedly attempted to make an unwitting ally in the scheme.

The store of munitions Coster planned to unload through Boston channels was valued at more than $8,000,000, it was revealed.

Long, Raymond Named Again

Tax Commissioner Henry F. Long and Budget Commissioner Carl Raymond were nominated for reappointment today and Joseph McKenney, former Boston College football coach, was named to the Metropolitan District Commission.

Governor Hurley sent their names to the executive council for confirmation as the administration's outgoing flurry of job-plum awards held the State House spotlight.

McKenney is now a member of the state ballot law commission.

If his appointment to the Metropolitan District Commission is approved he will succeed Associate Commissioner Felix A. Marcella.

PAYS $2500

Governor Hurley named the latter to the state board of housing.

No salary increase goes with McKenney's new job. It pays $2500 a year, as does the state ballot law commission job he's leaving.

Further Hurley appointments sent the council for confirmation today included those of Stuart A. Little of Newbury, nominated to the advisory board of the state department of agriculture, and Joseph J. Cardillo of Somerville, nominated to the board of trustees of the Boston state hospital.

TWO NAMES WITHDRAWN

Little will succeed William Casey, who has resigned; Cardillo, Jeremiah A. Greene, who also has resigned.

The executive council today confirmed all of Governor Hurley's appointments of last week, with exception of two, both of which were withdrawn.

One was that of William H. Woodhead, of North Adams, who died September 20, but was nominated by the governor last week as public administrator.

The other was that of Charles J. Leary, of Fall River, nominated as a member of the Fall River police commission. He refused the appointment.

Council Action

Tax Commissioner Long and Budget Commissioner Raymond reappointed by Governor Hurley. Ballot Law Commissioner Joseph McKenney named to the Metropolitan District Commission.

Ex-WPA Man Slugs LaGuardia

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 (INS)—Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia today fought off with his bare hands a man who leaped at him on the steps of City Hall and grappled with the pudgy chief magistrate.

LaGuardia swung out wildly as they closed, and in a moment both he and his attacker, who gave the name of James F. Hagen, were rolling on the stone steps.

A score of persons, curious onlookers gathered to see the mayor enter his office, ran up and hauled Hagen to his feet. They held him while LaGuardia, panting and breathless, regained his own feet.

It was not immediately established whether the mayor had suffered other than minor injuries. Nor was it established whether Hagen, a resident of the Bronx, had been injured by the rescuing throng before police, in return, rescued him.

One report, unverified, was that the mayor had been kicked by his assailant. The mayor was rushed to his private office for examination, while Hagen was taken to headquarters.

It was reported Hagen had identified himself as a farmer WPA worker who had borne a grudge against LaGuardia since his lay-off from the WPA.

"I've been after you for four years!" he shouted as he flung himself at the mayor, punching him on the right eye.

Considerable confusion developed concerning the attack. One report was that John Welsh, a chauffeur to the mayor's secretary, subdued Hagen with a blow while police fought off the menacing crowd.

Pope Cancels Plan To Open Holy Year

ROME, Dec. 20 (INS)—On the advice of his physicians, Pope Pius XI reluctantly abandoned his plans to participate personally in the formal inauguration today o fa new holy year of prayer and devotion.

The Pontiff was prevailed upon to renounce his plans by his physicians who decided that the ceremonies, entailing numerous formalities, would constitute a dangerous strain on his failing energy.

Lt. Lyons and 3 Killed in Crash

Trapped in their flaming plane as it plunged downward to doom, Lieut. Perry S. Lyons, former commander of Salem coast guard air base and three other service fliers were killed today in a crash in an open field in Boerne, Texas, near San Antonio.

Most of the victims probably were burned to death before the plane hit ground, officials said.

The dead were identified as:

LIEUT. LYONS, unit commander of Coast Guard at El Paso, Tex., former leader of the Coast Guard unit at Salem and husband of Virginia Wells, Boston society girl whom he married less than a year ago.

RUPERT H. GERMAINE, El Paso Coast Guard.

GEORGE C. LATHAM, enlisted man, Fort Bliss, El Paso.

C. H. PEAGUE, U. S. naval ensign, El Paso.

BODIES IDENTIFIED

Bodies were identified by papers or medals. Sheriff Ed Bierschwale said he thought the pilot, realizing the plane was ablaze and chances of escape slight, deliberately headed south out of the town of Boerne and toward open country to avoid injuring townspeople.

Lieut. Lyons

Dashing aviator and brilliant writer, Lieutenant Lyons is well remembered here for his daring rescues while a member of the Salem Coast Guard patrol.

Perhaps he is even better recalled as the Lochinvar of the air who wooed and won Miss Virginia Wells of Marblehead, daughter of the socially important Mr. and Mrs. Carl S. Wells, early last January.

When the lovers discovered his duties prevented him from coming to Marblehead for the conventional home wedding, she flew to Texas to meet him.

They motored to El Rancho Cinco H near Tubac, Ariz., for the ceremony. Since then, they have been living in El Paso.

Lieutant Lyons was from Walla Walla, Wash., attended the University of Washington, the Coast Guard Academy in New London and the Naval Air Training School at Pensacola, Fla.

IN SEVERAL SPEED FLIGHTS

His bereaved bride, a direct descendant of Roger Conant, was graduated from the Erskine School and made her debut at a Brae Burn Country Club luncheon in 1934.

Lieutenant Lyons was transferred to El Paso a year ago last July, after an exceptionally good record.

Germaine, who is about the same age as Lyons, was born at Plattsburg, N. Y. He was educated at Plattsburg State Normal School.

Later he studied aviation at the U. S. Navy's Parachute School, Lakehurst, N. J., the Army's Gas and Diesel School at Hawaii, and in the aviation department of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

After service in Panama and Hawaii with the Army, he joined the Coast Guard in 1931 and transferred from Salem to El Paso in September, 1937.

There he joined Lyons.

Girl, 6, Blind, Deaf, Gets 'World' as Gift

CHICAGO, Dec. 20 (AP)—A six-year-old brown-haired girl who was a waif, both blind and deaf, is getting a whole new world for Christmas this year—thanks to science and the patience of Dr. Robert H. Gault, Northwestern University psychologist.

The child is Joan Higgins, sometimes called the "Helen Keller of her generation," and the present is one she'll remember as long as she lives—an opportunity to study Braille, the language of the sightless, under the guidance of Dr. Gault.

Dr. Gault, director of the American Institute for the Deaf, disclosed this unique gift today. Simultaneously he revealed that Joan had already begun her studies and had in one short month learned to read the Braille characters for these words:

"Wool," "Cookie," "Apple," "Milk," "Girl," "Good," "Ball" and "Walk."

Thus Joan is receiving what many educators would consider one of the greatest gifts within the power of man to bestow—the gift of knowledge.

Dr. Gault laid the foundation of her Braille studies by teaching her a spoken vocabulary of nearly 100 words in two years. This was accomplished by use of the phonotactor, a device he developed in 1937, a year after Joan was brought to his clinic.

A loud speaker transmits vibrations of the instructor's voice, and Joan, holding her tiny fingers against the machine, can distinguish vibrations and imitate them with her own voice.

Joan was only five days old when she was found on the doorstep of the Cook County Hospital. Born without eyes and totally deaf, she remained in the hospital until 1936, when she became a ward of the state and Dr. Gault undertook her instruction.

Missing Girl Is Feared Captive of White Slavers

KINGSTON, Pa., Dec. 20 (AP)—State police investigating the disappearance of Margaret Martin, attractive 19-year-old business college graduate, advanced a belief today she was being "detained" somewhere near here, unharmed.

At the same time, Luzerne county detectives checked the possibility that a stranger who lured her from her home last Saturday with the promise of a job was a round-up man for a white-slave ring.

Miss Martin has not been heard from since she set out to keep a street-corner appointment with him.

Major William A. Clarke of the state police said a man taken into custody yesterday was questioned but had not been linked with the girl's disappearance. No charges were placed against him.

Major Clarke said state police virtually had eliminated the possibility the girl had been abducted for money.

In connection with the white-slave angle, Chief of Detectives Richard Powell said his men checked all roadhouses within a 15-mile radius of nearby Wilkes-Barre.

MARGARET MARTIN

He quoted three unidentified girls as saying men who interviewed them about jobs recently promised them more money for a life of crime.

New Congress Hit By First Death

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (INS)—The first death in the newly-elected Congress occurred when Representative Stephen W. Gambrill (D.) of Maryland, fell dead in the Capitol building offices of Dr. George W. Calver, congressional physician.

TOPPING'S BRIDE—Millionaire Henry J. (Bob) Topping takes glamour girl Gloria (Mimi) Baker as his bride at Palm Beach and poses for photographers about the same time his ex-wife, who divorced him last week, announced she had gone into the ice cream business in Los Angeles.

Woman's Corpse Rescued in Fire

Only a few hours after the body had been rescued from flames in a Lexington street, Watertown, house, funeral services were held today for Mrs. Sarah A. Riley, 60-year-old Watertown widow.

Because of the fire, at which two invalids were rescued by police and firemen and an aged woman and a one-legged man were led to safety, the funeral was from a Main street undertaking parlor.

At St. Patrick's Church, Watertown, a requiem mass was sung for the widow, a member of the Blessed Virgin Mary Sodality and St. Patrick's Chapter of the Massachusetts Catholic Women's Guild.

MOURNERS ACT

Mourners gathered in the home carried the body out of the house when fire started in the second floor apartment.

Mrs. Clementine MacDonald, sister of the deceased and herself an incalid, were carried to the home of a neighbor. Gerard Riley, 26, a son of the dead woman and with only one leg, also was assisted to safety.

While firemen fought the blaze, police found Bartholomew Hurley, 70, a bed-ridden invalid, in his first floor apartment. He was carried from the apartment to a house next door. His wife was also lifted from her bed and carried to safety.

Anti-Trust Drive Hits Medical Groups

U. S. Indicts 21 Doctors

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP) — The American Medical Association, three local medical societies and 21 individual physicians were indicted today by a federal grand jury for violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

The societies named were the Medical Society of the District of Columbia, the Harris County (Tex.) Medical Society, and the Washington (D. C.) Academy of Surgery.

Among the 21 physicians indicted were Dr. Olin West, secretary of the American Medical Association; Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the American Medical Association's Journal; Dr. Arthur C. Christie, prominent Washington radiologist and Dr. Prentiss Willson, who recently co-operated in filing a suit against the Washington Group Health Association, charging that group health physicians had injured his practice in furnishing medical service through the association.

CITE TRADE VIOLATION

Others indicted are officials of the American Medical Association or its affiliated societies.

The Department of Justice instituted proceedings against the American Medical Association last October, charging that it was acting in restraint of trade, in violation of the anti-trust act.

Specifically it charged that the association, some local societies and individual physicians were preventing other physicians and co-operative medical organizations from supplying medical service by refusing membership in medical societies to individual physicians who joined such groups.

HEALT HGROUP INVOLVED

Particularly involved were the affairs of Group Health Association, Inc. This co-operative agency was established more than a year ago, offering medical care and hospitalization to some 2600 government employes for $2.20 each month. It put its staff of doctors on a salary basis.

The District Society, an affiliate of the A. M. A., promptly attacked the plan as leading toward the compulsory insurance systems in vogue in Germany and elsewhere in Europe. The society denounced such systems as undermining high standards of medical practice and likely to break down the close relationship of the physician and his patient.

The association accused the society of hampering its activities by threatening exclusion of its doctors from hospitals and thus restraining their efforts to earn a living.

Dr. Fishbein Plans Fight on Indictments

CHICAGO, Dec. 20 (AP)—Dr. Morris Fishbein, spokesman for the American Medical Association, when informed of the federal indictments returned in Washington today for violation of the Sherman anti-trust act, said:

"The house of delegates has authorized the board of directors of the American Medical Association to defend the case to the limit."

So few the hours until Christmas Day! So many the needy families of hungry children and prayerful parents! Your generosity NOW is going to mean the difference between happiness in scores of despairing homes and the sorrowful plight of no food.

That's the situation now, because the Christmas Basket Fund Editor needs more dollars, even more dimes, if enough kind contributors will respond within the next day or two with donations so that bountiful baskets filled with the good things that everyone, well off and poverty stricken alike, want for the table on the Day of days.

WONDERFUL WORK

It's a wondeful thing to take part in the providing of these baskets for poor families. Thousands know the joy of receiving them each year and in turn the rejoicing is equal among the givers.

Just imagine the heartfelt gratitude of a destitute father and mother when they find one of these baskets delivered to their door on Friday or Saturday of this week . . . and remember Saturday is Christmas Eve.

They are given hope and renewed spirit when they feast their eyes on the feast for their little ones that is contained in the big Boston Evening American Basket, a heaven sent gift of YOU and YOU and YO who lend a helping hand to brighten their Christmas Day.

FINE FOOD

In the basket they come upon a luscious turkey, fresh and fine, the best the market affords, just as more fortunate families will enjoy. They lift out the peck of potatoes the pounds of onions and fresh vegetables, the cans of corn, peas and the bright big jar of fresh fruit preserves, as well as the cake, cookies, bread and the bright juicy oranges, a whole dozen.

Such a grand and glorious order of wholesome food from YOU and YOU and YOU should make as merry a Christmas as ever a dad, mother and hungry children have had . . . so why not send along a little something to the Basket Fund Editor. Send it to 5 Winthrop Square in Boston, or drop in at the Basket Fund Office, on the main floor of the big newspaper publishing plant.

Try to keep in mind the many little lads and lassies who may know a real Christmas this year of 1938 by means of your kindness and thoughtful generosity.

It may mean hope to them and instill the renewed faith they need to carry on despite their unfortunate circumstances.

Europe in Grip Of Cold Wave, Deaths Mount

LONDON, Dec. 20 (AP)—Winter rolled up a heavy toll of lives in many European countries today.

A ferryboat creeping through the icy waters of Tagus river at Lisbon struck a dredge and sank, with 25 of the 70 ferry passengers believed drowned.

More than 20 deaths were attributed to the cold, 23 degrees above zero in England. A violent northeast wind foiled relief for three keepers at Fastnet Rock lighthouse, off the coast of County Cork, Ireland.

Paris and suburbs counted nine dead. Hundreds of barges were caught in frozen northern French canals. Railroad signals froze in Scandinavia, delaying continental expresses. Norway had the lowest temperature yesterday, 25 below zero; Sweden was second with 20 below.

In hungary the cold snapped a rail and derailed a train, injuring six passengers. Several ships in the Black sea radioed distress signals, and at least three sailors were believed lost.

In Belgium 15 deaths were attributed to the intense cold. The mercury fell to 5 degrees above zero Fohrenheit, lowest in 50 years.

Baby Coming, Couple Suicide

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 (INS)—Faced with the prospect of a penniless Christmas and approaching parenthood, Walter Christal, 21-year-old army private, and his 20-year-old bride of six months, Geraldine, were dead today, victims of illuminating gas.

Police found Christal clasped in his wife's arms, with three gas jets wide open in their tiny furnished room, which contained meagre belongings, several pawn tickets and 56 cents.

Christal faced court martial for being absent from the army without leave.

SUIT DISMISSED — Because they were married before the divorce law's time limit, Mrs. Dorothy F. Rogers' suit for separate support against Ralph L. Rogers, B. U. instructor, was dismissed.

Bridal Expert Wins: No Wife

Holding that the interlocutory provisions of the Massachusetts divorce laws preclude recognition of marriage by Massachusetts residents in other states within the time limit, Judge John V. Mahoney dismissed today the suit for separate support brought by Mrs. Dorothy F. Rogers against Ralph Rogers, instructor at Boston University.

"Unfortunate as is the predicament of this woman," commented the judge, "there seems ample evidence that she was familiar with the social and business circumstances of Mr. Rogers, and understood the implications of their associations."

DENIED HER CLAIM

It was brought out during the hearing that Rogers, author of "Mr. and Mrs.," a radio sketch, was divorced by his first wife here in Boston in January, 1930. Miss Dorothy Baretta—she must assume her maiden name no what Judge Mahoney has decided she never was married—was employed by him.

She testified that after the divorce he announced, "Now I am a free man!"

This he denied from the stand today, asserting that instead they quarreled over her demand for immediate marriage, he pointing out that under Massachusets law he could not mary again for two years.

WEDDED IN JULY

They were married in July of that year, and went to California—he says because of her health, she says to settle permanently.

They returned to Boston in 1931, and lived here together for a time.

Her suit was brought on the grounds that she is now destitute and that the New York marriage is binding despite the interlocutory provision in his divorce. This contention was denied by the court.

Professor Larmon Of Dartmouth Weds

CONCORD, N. H., Dec. 20 (AP) —Professor Russell Larmon of Dartmouth College and Miss Katherine Johnston, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Graves, were married here today at the home of the bride.

The ceremony was performed by Dr. Archibald Black of Montclair, N. J.

12,000 at Work Speeding Yule Mail to Hub

More than 12,000 men, including 5500 temporary employes to handle Christmas mail, were pressed into service today by Postmaster Peter F. Tague.

Postmaster Tague said supervisors reported "hopes" og delivering all parcel post by late Saturday night.

About 10,000,000 pieces of mail were handled during the day in the main post office. Postmaster Tague said:

"This is an extremely heavy Christmas mail. We are about 20,000,000 pieces ahead of last year."

Nazis Ask U. S. Man to Aid in Ousting Jews

LONDON, Dec. 20 (AP)—Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering today invited George Rublee, American director of the international refugee office, to visit Berlin to complete the German financial plan for getting Jews out of Germany.

Rublee is the permanent executive in charge of the international committee assisting refugees, a group whose principal efforts in the past months have been sent toward aiding German Jews.

The invitations from Goering, chief of the Nazi four-year economic self-sufficiency plan, came on the heels of the visit to London last week of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank, on an unofficial mission attempting to arrange the financial end of Jewish emigration.

It also came after Prime Minister Chamberlain, in Commons yesterday, said he was "still waiting for a sign from those who speak for the German people" that they were ready to make "their contribution" for European peace.

Danzig Bans All Jews; to Seize Wealth

MANCHESTER, Eng., Dec. 20 (INS)—The Manchester Guardian reported from Warsaw today that Jews have been ordered to leave the free city of Danzig by April 1.

The dispatch said Danzig Jews would be deprived of their property and take out only $20 each. It added that all Jews remaining after April 1 "will be placed aboard ships in the Baltic sea and told to go anywhere they please."

Jews Urge U. S. Drop Bars to 56,000 More

PARIS, Dec. 20 (AP)—A proposal that the United States relax immigration restrictions to provide temporary relief for more than 50,000 Jews of Germany was advanced today by representatives of Jewish organizations, meeting with Sir Herbert Emerson, assistant to the League of Nations high commissioner for refugees.

The committe suggested that the United States immediately grant the full quota of visas for the next two years for emigrants from Germany, which would be 56,000, including annexed Austria.

The visas would not become valid until their regular times in 1939 or 1940.

With the visas assured, however, refugees would be allowed to leave Germany for a "receiving country" to remain until regulations permitted entry into the United States.

If arrangements were made meanwhile, for entrance to other countries, the visas would be withdrawn or transferred to other refugees.

The representatives also discussed the plight of an estimated 10,000 Jews in Czechoslovakia, who fled into Prague government territory after Germany took over the Sudeten area.

Held as Killer Of Rich Widow Who Aided Him

PORTLAND, Me., Dec. 20—Accused of having beaten to death his friend and benefactress, wealthy Mrs. Martha A. Babb, a 68-year-old taxicab driver was arrested on a murder charge here today.

Arraigned in municipal court, the defendant, Richard A. Hanlon, entered a plea of not guilty and was held without bail.

His arrest came as climax to an investigation which began, under dramatic circumstances, when a Farmington undertaker found bruises on Mrs. Babb's body as he was preparing it for burial, Saturday.

Until that time, the woman's death in her Portland apartment, had been attributed to natural causes.

An autopsy showed the victim died of a brain hemorrhage, caused by blows on the skull.

Officers of the Portland homicide squad, headed by Captain Harold Maguire, declared they had evidence indicating Hanlan, long a protege of the well-to-do and widowed Mrs. Webb, had quarreled with her shortly before her death.

R. I. Textile Vote Repudiates CIO

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP)—Francis J. Gorman, president of the United Textile Workers, said today the result of a national labor board election in the Atlantic Mills, Providence, R. I., was a repudiation of the CIO.

Gorman, who is attempting to lead his union out of the CIO ranks, said a count of the ballots cast by 1400 workers in the mill showed a 2-1 vote against the CIO.

"The election result is significant, not only in Rhode Island but throughout the country," he added. "Sidney Hillman, chairman of the CIO's textile workers' organizing committee, made this a test case."

Wins $10,000 In Death Suits

Isabella R. Hess, administratrix of the estate of her late husband, Abner Hess of Saratoga street, East Boston, won verdicts totaling $10,000 today in suits against the Boston Elevated and John E. Millen of Mason street, Everett.

She alleged Hess, the father of 10 children, was struck by a street car in East Boston last May and then by Millen's automobile. He died at Strong Hospital, East Boston.

The Suffolk superior court jury which heard the case awarded her $9000 in the "El" suit and $1000 in her action against Millen.

New Puppet China Regime Set Up by Japs

CANTON, China, Dec. 20 (AP)—The Japanese invaders established here today one more of the Chinese-manned, Japanese-dominated regimes with which they have replaced ousted Chinese authorities throughout the occupied areas.

With two elderly Chinese as chairman and vice-chairman, the "Kwangtung provincial government" was ceremoniously installed in the bomb-marked Sun Yat-Sen memorial hall, formerly a shrine of Chinese revolution.

Pang Tung-Yen, former commander of the Woosung forts near Shanghai, is chairman, and Liu Chung-Wing, onetime commander of the Chinese fourth army, vice-chairman.

(The Japanese have set up a "provisional government of China" at Peiping, a "reformed government" at Nanking, an inner Mongolian government at Hobo (Kweisui, Suiyuan Province) and local regimes at Shanghai and elsewhere. Japanese military-politicians are working for the amalgamation of all these puppet regimes into one government).

Japs Have 5-Year Plan for China

SHANGHAI, Dec. 20 (AP)—Japanese army officers today outlined plans for a five-year campaign designed to pacify North China and establish a strong Chinese government friendly to Japan.

It was to help carry out this campaign, they said, that troops were being moved northward from the Yangtze valley, slowing the tempo of the war.

At present, according to neutral estimates, the Japanese actually control only 13 of Hopeh province's 136 districts, 31 of Shansi's 105, 36 of Shantung's 109, and five in North Honan.

The remainder of the 200,000 square miles north of the Yellow river and the Lunghai railway is held by Chinese guerrillas constantly harrassing Japanese communications and political and economic control.

This area corresponds roughly in size to the New England States, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Ohio.

Soviet Executes Two More Spies

MOSCOW, Dec. 20 (AP)—The execution of two spies identified as "N" and "X" was announced today by the Army newspaper Red Star.

The paper said they had confessed planning "mass extermination of fighters and commanders by means of infection" and had admitted sabotaging army medical supplies.

"N" was described as "a German by nationality, born and raised in Russia." He had been with the Red Cross since 1921. "X" was employed in the sanitary service of the Red army.

How Rivals Outwitted Carl Rettich Gangsters

Convict Bares $427,950 Coup

From the lips of a New York convict today came a startling story—that the New York gang which pulled a $427,950 armored car robbery at a Brooklyn ice plant in 1934 stole a march on the Carl Rettich gang of Providence.

[illegible] in the confession of the convict [illegible] of two brigades who [illegible] the plan [illegible] the huge haul.

Last night [illegible] brother-in-law, a New York policeman and [illegible] convict he said today in an interview obtained by the New York Journal-American, pulled the greatest job he could plan [illegible] taken what he [illegible] city of [illegible] steps.

[illegible] Carl Rettich [illegible] $30 [illegible] was called [illegible] to Dannemora prison and [illegible] grave him the story.

RETTICH "SCOUTED" PLANT

Archie [illegible] chief witness against other members of the holdup gang, told the Journal-American reporter that members of the Rettich gang [illegible] scouted the Rutherford [illegible] pany plant when the Manning Stewart gang pulled the bold holdup.

Rettich, proprietor of the notorious "Crime Castle" at Warwick [illegible], is [illegible] at Alcatraz for a $120,000 mail [illegible] robbery [illegible] Jan. [illegible], 1934.

Serving similar terms with him on [illegible] are [illegible] members of his gang: John McGlone, Charley Hatrigan, Thomas Dugan and Joseph Fisher.

As a result of his story Archie Stewart has been removed from Dannemora and is held in one of New York city's penal institutions until trial of four out of five men now charged in the ice plant holdup.

4 FACING TRIAL

The four are Joseph Ke[illegible] serving a robbery sentence in [illegible] Sing, Thomas Quinn, a [illegible] who allegedly aided in the escape [illegible] Harry Gallert, [illegible] with [illegible] green mud-caked [illegible] the night of the [illegible] reported to [illegible] Mrs. Mary [illegible] Lee, who [illegible] sheltered the gang while the [illegible] was on.

[illegible] for his crucial part in the escape of John Ha[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] been a [illegible] [illegible]

"The idea to rob an armored car," Stewart told the Journal-American reporter, "came from John Manning (later slain by rival gangsters). He was one of these harmless looking guys but he was afraid of nothing.

WHERE THEY ERRED

"Manning told me he had been watching armored cars picking up money and had noticed there was a minute or so when the guards opened the doors and a couple of fast-working guys could cover them and get into the car.

"He figured three men could do it. Percy Geary from Albany would be all right for the other man he decided. Geary is now serving 20 years in Alcatraz for kidnaping young John O'Connell earlier in 1934.

"It was a bad move to take him in. That was the first thing we did wrong, because he convinced us his pal, John Oley, was just the man to help us. (Oley is serving 27 years in Alcatraz for the kidnaping.)

TRAIL MONEY CARS

"But Oley brought in his brother Frances, and the Oleys brought in three more to share the profits, Joe Kress, Bennie McMahon and Stewart Wallace.

"I almost pulled out of the whole thing then and there, but I figured I had spent so much time on it already I might as well go through with it.

"You see, we still figured the touch would be close to a million, and I figured my end would be over a hundred thousand.

Stewart then [illegible] [illegible] of armored cars [illegible] being timed when the [illegible] ing stopped as the [illegible] the holdup.

It was the idea of [illegible] use a boat for the [illegible] said Archie.

RETTICH CARS ARRIVE

"Then one day," he continued, "we got an unpleasant surprise. Some of us were sitting with the bums on the ice plant platform, where the truck came every day, when we saw a couple of strange cars come cruising around.

"We marked down the license numbers and checked up on who owns the cars. And what do we find? These cars are owned by a couple of fellows that we know are connected with the Carl Rettich gang up in Providence.

"You remember that was the gang that had a kind of fort up on Narragansett Bay for headquarters.

MAIL ROBBERY FOOLISH

"This was a real tough mob, not afraid of anybody. But they later stuck up a mail truck, which was crazy, and they are all in the can for real stretches now.

"So now we figure we got to work fast—maybe they will come any day and beat us to it.

"It's a funny thing, isn't it, that both mobs should pick out that Rettich plant out of the whole city? You can see what a soft touch it was."

Reveal Wall St. Firm Backed Coster Schemes

Disclosure that a powerful Wall street corporation handled the fantastic financial activities of "F. Donald Coster," president of the drug firm, and his three brothers—all now revealed as brothers of Phillip Musica, notorious swindler of nearly two generations ago.

WPA Fingerprint Ruling Opposed

"At that time I did not have any idea of their previous business dealings," he added.

He refused to explain this statement.

DETAILS OF OFFER

The offer to [illegible] unlimited quantities of Lee Enfield rifles, said to be [illegible] Mexico, was made [illegible] New York.

"I was given the impression that the guns were located in New York and Connecticut," Shrigley told Federal authorities here.

"The men offered 50,000 rifles in the initial shipment, packed four guns to a case, and as many more as the Mexican government wanted. In the spring of 1938, I informed the Boston agents that Mexico was not interested."

One of the [illegible] mentioned as the goal of Coster was the Hotel [illegible] on Boylston street here. Manuel Lopez of 282 Commonwealth avenue, the present owner, said today he had spoken [illegible] with regard to a proposition since he had been in Boston.

New York investigators believe, however, that by some means or other Coster disposed of a huge [illegible] of rifles to foreign countries.

It was learned that Coster tried to see Parsons with the understanding that if [illegible] would be [illegible] to [illegible] the arms for a [illegible] Europe.

When [illegible] into the Mitchell and Parsons Company [illegible] in three [illegible] Federal investigators it was revealed that John J. Burns and Edmund J. Brandon well known Boston attorneys, dropped the firm as counsels and counsel relations.

Parsons and Brandon were retained December 12 by Coster to represent the firm and himself in a hearing before the Securities Exchange Commission in a complaint charging false statements.

The Boston lawyers withdrew four days later when they concluded that statements made to them were false.

At the same time, federal agents announced their investigations had established that Coster, really Philip Musica, was one of the biggest bootleggers of the prohibition era and that he did not quit even after becoming head of the McKesson and Robbins Company and gaining social prestige.

Business in the town came to a virtual standstill Sunday, [illegible] every article of merchandise having been withdrawn from [illegible] decadent merchants. Even cigarette vending machines [illegible] bore signs reading: "Closed All Day."

Plymouth's experiment will be short-lived. Soon—within a [illegible] months' time—business of the kind permitted in the majority of [illegible] cities on Sunday will be conducted without police [illegible].

The surest way to rid a municipality of outmoded ordinances is to ENFORCE them.

A WARNING everyone should heed comes from Registrar Frank A. Goodwin, who calls on all motorists to exercise extreme caution this week in order to keep fatalities at a minimum during the Christmas holidays.

"If every person at the wheel of an automobile will slow down to 35 miles an hour in the cities and will not exceed 45 miles on country roads, we shall have a wonderful reduction," the Registrar wisely says.

Let us hope all drivers do this. And let us also hope that those who do not will find themselves where they belong—in court or jail.

Simians Enjoy New Popularity

By EDWIN C. HILL

[illegible] (1938, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

MONKEY BUSINESS is on the upswing all over the world. Currently in the news is the story of the new colony for [illegible] monkeys on Santiago Island near San Juan, Puerto Rico.

The creatures brought 14,000 miles from the jungles of India, will have the island all to themselves to settle their own problems of model housing and slum clearance without any red tape whatsoever. This is not an experiment in starting a new and possibly more edifying civilization than ours. It is a detail of the well-known study of tropical medicine.

[illegible] interesting, but long overshadowed is the fact that there is a lively jungle town, with a population many times as big [illegible] in New York City, down at 23d Street. There you will find the establishment of the Ringling-Barnum Circus Company, 40-odd [illegible] touring from winter quarters into New York [illegible] a year.

Gas and refreshment stands along the [illegible] highways find that a furred or feathered entertainer is a good business. Pittsburgh reports that animal acts are holding up well. But medical research [illegible] accounts for much of the [illegible] demand for animals, particularly the monkeys.

For instance, the [illegible] much given to kidnaping was that Baltimore [illegible] or two ago, of a monkey [illegible] with frightful. She was [illegible] marvel until it was learned that she had stolen two of her babies.

In 1929 there was a war on the Rock of Gibraltar between the big monkeys colony and the people of the settlement. The monkeys attacked only at [illegible] and found it unoccupied except for a sleeping infant.

One was a mother, with a brace of [illegible] own. She picked up [illegible] and was cooing to it and rocking it when the [illegible] mother appeared. She grappled with the monkey and [illegible] on the [illegible] and made off with her [illegible] were assembled [illegible] and hopped [illegible].

[illegible] war with [illegible] was [illegible] all over [illegible]. It was ended by a telegram from the British Admiralty which said: "Stop that monkey business."

The Brighter Side

Science Acts to End Race Track Rackets

By DAMON RUNYON

(Copyright, 1938, by King Features Syndicate, Inc., [illegible] and Great Britain.)

DR. J. G. CATLETT [illegible] veterinarian of the horse racing tracks, was telling us the other day how hereafter race horses are going to be "mugged" or photographed, the same as criminals, to prevent a practice among the larcenists of the turf known as "ringing."

A "ringer" in race track parlance is a horse that is not the horse it is supposed to be. The larceny lads take a pretty good horse and run it under the name of a pretty poor horse in a party in which the poor horse properly belongs. Naturally the pretty good horse figures to win a race in that company, which may [illegible] trouble and at the odds that would ordinarily be laid against the poor horse.

The practice of "ringing" still survives to a greater extent than you might suspect. Probably not all the cases discovered are made public unless the turf authorities are sure of the guilty parties. At least one instance came to light on a big time Eastern track this past season.

DR. CATLETT thinks the new system will be an almost sure preventative of that form of turf thievery. Dr. Catlett is the man who went to France a few years ago and studied the saliva test designed to detect the narcotic stimulation of race horses and brought the system back to this country. It is now employed in nearly all the big time race tracks, but Dr. Catlett told us that he regretted to say that the turf burglars are still out-guessing the test in spots, so he is going in for another test. It is a kidney test.

"Simmy Jim" Fitzsimmons, one of the most successful horse trainers in the business, lent Dr. Catlett four race horses last summer that were kept under training conditions while Dr. Catlett experimented on them. They were not run in a trial race, but against one another and the veterinarian made a careful study of their reactions to various stimulants and found that things that escaped the saliva test were invariably disclosed through the kidneys.

THE RACING PUBLIC has an idea that the turf crooks toss narcotics into their horses to make them run faster, but Dr. Catlett said that more often it was to make them run slower. Morphine is what he calls a "retarding" drug, and there are others that bring a fast nag down to a walk. Heroin makes them fly. Dr. Catlett said he did not think alcohol in any form had any effect on a race horse and he seemed a little skeptical of other things that are supposed to make horses run.

To strengthen his new test he has introduced a pre-race examination in which every horse in a race is inspected shortly before a race with special reference to its heart action and then the man in charge of that horse has to sign a statement that the horse was found all right, a proceeding that tends to make the man sit right there and see that it remains all [illegible]

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

THAT GRAND [illegible] made in the Vatican battling to herd[illegible] ... carry on despite the hand[illegible] ... age and ... friends names ... he can whatever he could ... to ... Lenox here and ... honors for the inspiration of his magnificent courage.

Recently the query struck again left the old Pope hopeless life barely flickering. Surely there could be no comeback from that. Hobbled in the shadows of the great room those who loved him watched his struggle ... shrinking at the ... of the oxygen tanks ... weeping as the thread of breath faltered and failed in the frail husk of flesh and the tissue thin lids closed across the dimming eyes.

Blue ops ... Blue seals! Tall ships setting sail for far horizons flying "Blue Peter" at the mast. Heir of a brave certainty, was the "Blue Peter" signal of another, nobler voyager setting forth on a greater adventure to the home he had served so long and so well.

Yes, this must be the end. But no! Even as they bowed to the inevitable, the eyelids quivered ... the hands stirred ... life swept across the drained and pallid flesh in a triumphant tide. A miracle! No—not a miracle. Merely—DUTY. THERE WAS WORK TO BE DONE ... HIS WORK ... AND HE MUST DO IT.

• • •

ALARMED, they begged, protested. Reminded him that the knock threat still loomed ... that he must not dare not. Dare not? Has eyes flashed with the old fire ... has words leaped with the old power "BETTER A VACANT CHAIR THAN A POPE WHO DARES NOT FULFIL THE FUNCTION OF A POPE."

What a reply! He who offers that mighty lay in that answer. As a young monk-infant climber as a pattering representative of God he had always scorned mere safety.

Here he was, in the grip of death, hanging to life by a pulse beat. Yet, without a second's hesitation he risked life for a point of hope!

• • •

BETTER A VACANT CHAIR THAN A BROKEN TRUST! What a rebuke and challenge to a world turned craven ... to this nation particularly. We were so gorgeously reckless once, hardly fifty years ago. So eager to try new trails to accept the hazards of strange adventures. And now? NOW WE WANT TO PLAY SAFE!

Now we clamor for "security" ... where against risk ... grasp desperately at comfort. Forsooth. The quantity rather than the quality of life ... that the modern slogan of a people who once challenged tyranny, died for principle conquered a wilderness.

Better a vacant chair than a hemlockless man! Pope Pius knew that when he once again defied death. Socrates meant that when he laughingly drank the hemlock rather than bow to political expediency. Joan of Arc meant that when she walked to the burning stake, rather than forswear her "visions." Jesus Christ ... and Abraham Lincoln ... and many another ... meant that when they chose a felon's cross, an assassin's bullet rather than peace and popularity.

WHICH DO YOU CHOOSE WHEN YOU FACE THE DAILY CHALLENGE OF YOUR LIFE? Safety? Comfort? Self-indulgence? Or living "the hard way" but keeping the faith?

DOBBIN SHARES THE JOY OF THE NEW ENGLAND CHRISTMAS

Joseph E. Pizzo Provides Bountiful Holiday Meal for Faithful Horse

Girl About Town

by Ann Marsters

THE HORSE may be the forgotten animal, but at Christmas time, there are those who remember him.

Christmas dinners for horses have been supplied by the Animal Rescue League for many, many years. This is how it began:

There was a time, some 25 years ago, when horses drew carriages in which ladies went calling or shopping. And the horses and the drivers would be quite forgotten hour after hour, waiting in the winter cold.

So the Rescue League would fling a blanket over the more neglected horses and serve doughnuts and hot coffee to the drivers.

The aid to horses increased beyond a mere blanket and nearly horses were given healthful food. And at Christmas time, there was an extra-special treat.

Of course there aren't as many hungry horses as there used to be. But Mr. Archibald MacDonald, who has been with the League 26 years, says he can still find a goodly number. "If you should ever want a hungry horse, then Mr. MacDonald is your man."

IN FURTHER DETAIL, this is what is done with the Christmas funds for horses:

A bagful of salted oats, beets, carrots and other tools to delight a horse.

A thorough inspection of the horse and harness.

Necessary repairs made in barn.

Feed and bedding improved when found below a healthy standard.

Horses in need of veterinary care including dentistry, are given relief.

Blankets provided in worthy cases. And if there is any money left from the fund, similar work goes on all through the year.

There are, incidentally, over 4000 horses in and around Boston.

WE HEAR that grandmothers who go to see "The Great Waltz" do their cheering in three-fourths time.

GLAMOUR GIFT NOTE: Revolutionists don't read. He might like to have her perfumed bedroom slippers. A very tiny bottle of Patou's "Joy" an ounce of it sells for $2. And it's possible to find little satin bedroom slippers studded with paste jewels for $10.

PUT THINK of all the people who can't afford even a stuff of toy. And there'll be Christmas dinner for them with a YOU Ring.

Please remember that no contribution is too small to be grateful. Is received by the Boston Americans Christmas Basket Fund. Pennies make dollars, and dollars buy turkeys. If you don't want to help, either financial service or gift to the Basket Fund at 5 Winthrop Square. There are only a few days left.

COMING ATTRACTIONS: Germany will bar all persecution of Jews on Feb. 1, for economic reasons. The Nazis no longer can afford the boycotts by other nations ... Despite denials, three Hollywood couples—Dorothy Lamour and Herbie Kaye, Miriam Hopkins and Anton Litvak, Alice Faye and Tony Martin—are quietly making divorce plans ... Philip DeLacy, son of the wealthy department store president, is working as a laborer in a shipbuilding company ... A Federal judge will be indicted shortly, charged with manipulation in bond and mortgage cases ... Grover Whalen is trying to steal Max Reinhardt or some other big name producer to stage the spectacle in the Star Place ... The British Admiralty is ordering complete talking picture equipment for 150 of their battleships—indicating they don't expect "empty holds" in the fleet in wars in the future ...

GOSSIP IN GOTHAM: A famous safety blade company is being sued for $250,000 on their new shaving cream product ... the Chinese government can't show at the World's Fair has stymied because of no cashier ... Virginia French, the debutante-tantalizer of Lloyd Bridges, the Lubbock boy, are holding hands in the Better Places ... TWA next season will use a fleet of new Boeings. They'll carry 32 passengers, with berths for 26, and will require a crew of five to navigate ... RKO is readying another shake-up ... An ad company has copyrighted an idea that will make it possible to sell postage stamps for four cents—at a profit. Which means gigantic Stabilotta and cigar stores will no longer have to serve customers gratis ... Dorothy Kilgallen, the NBC singer and Ted Straeter, Kate Smith's maestro, no secrets engaged.

CHORAL NOTE: If Kirsten Flagstad the magnificent soprano, surprises her Met audience with two new tunes recently added to her repertoire there'll be an "I" years. Mary Ellen Monroe, the little girl who posed for pictures with the singer at the opening of the Free Milk Fund for Babies drive.

Mary Ellen is one of the children who receive milk from the Fund. Flagstad made friends with her immediately during the picture-taking process. They were sitting at a piano and Mary Ellen vocalized a song.

"What would you like to sing?" asked Flagstad.

"Yes, I like the Hall Road and I like the Low Road," said the little girl.

When the singer confessed she didn't know the song, Mary Ellen taught her, and they practiced. They were so pleased with the sound that Madame Flagstad asked if Mary Ellen would tutor her in another one.

"Sure," said Mary Ellen, "sing 'A-Tisket, A-Tasket!'"

How to Lose 30 Pounds

In yesterday's installment, Carol Frink told about preparing to enter Johns Hopkins Hospital to take the reducing treatment. How she lost 30 pounds in five weeks will be told in detail in this, the second chapter, and in following articles.

CHAPTER II

I drove up to Baltimore today to see Dr. W., who is to undertake the task of slimming me down to something like normal. Doctors' offices always give me vague feelings of misgivings and, waiting to see him, I resolved, as I always do when in a human service station, to be more careful of my health hereafter—to wear galoshes when it rains, to eat sensibly and regularly, and to get eight hours' sleep, plenty of fresh air, and moderate exercise.

This time I had fewer qualms than usual, for there was nothing the matter with me except there was too much of me. The interview was brief when it came. I said, brightly:

"It oughtn't to take long—it isn't as though I had a great deal of weight to lose."

30 POUNDS TO LOSE

The [illegible] eyed me over [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

"No," he said, encouragingly. "It isn't as though you had to lose 100 pounds or more, like a good many of my patients. About 30 pounds off, and you'll be down to normal."

I [illegible] [illegible] I had [illegible] [illegible] I told him I was [illegible] much weight would make me look haggard and drawn.

"It would," he said, "if you were to lose the weight by some methods. But that isn't true of the diet I'll put you on."

FIVE WEEKS' COURSE

"How long will it take?" I asked.

"Five weeks, or less," he answered promptly.

"I won't be able to spend more than two weeks in the hospital."

"Two weeks will be fine. You can do the rest at home. By that time you'll know the system. Do you want to enter the hospital today, or would you rather wait and go in tomorrow? It's really more convenient for the hospital to receive patients in the morning."

"Aha," I thought. "A reprieve."

• • •

I told him I'd go to the hospital in the morning, and he said he'd see me there at noon. Outside of his office I immediately forgot all of the alarming resolutions made a half hour before and hurried to my favorite Baltimore restaurant, where I ordered a cocktail, even a beer, I was so upset.

AND WHAT A MEAL!

Feeling that I might as well be hanged for a sheep as a lamb (though, as a matter of fact, lamb is on the diet), I ordered a meal that was, I have made Dr. W. quite aware, a swivel chair.

To the prisoner ate a hearty meal that I made away with a dozen of [illegible] pea soup, [illegible] shrimp with a lovely rich sauce, [illegible] and a hefty [illegible] of Camembert cheese.

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Then [illegible] with food and [illegible] I went [illegible] I went to bed my last thought being:

"That'll give 'em something to work on!"

Trouble in Arcady: L'Affaire Sheeketski

DR. EDDIE ANDERSON, THE YOUNG ORAL surgeon who left Holy Cross in the pink of football health and went West to sick-doctor Iowa, is plenty sore. Dr. Eddie, normally a placid gent, feels that he has been victim of a go-behind toehold. Dr. Eddie thinks Thos. J. McCabe, the go-get-'em H. C. director, violated the sanctity of a gentleman's agreement by hustling out to Detroit over the week-end and wheedling Joe Sheeketski, the Dr.'s man-Friday, into repudiating his verbal agreement with Iowa.

Austen Lake

There's a figment of ethics involved and, as matters stand out I-O-way, with the blood pressure rising, the corn belt institution is inclined to cleave onto Joe and yell outrage in newsprint.

It bases its claim on Joe's prior services to the fact that he gave his definite promise in the presence of faculty members and was placed on the University payroll. His first pay check was due on Dec. 15 and was mailed to his Detroit home on that date. Apparently he had not received it at the time of signing an H. C. contract at Thos. McCabe's behest.

The Man Who Discovered Joe

THE REST OF THIS COLUMN is that of Francis Wallace, screen writer, novelist, self confessed Notre Dame football "lizer" and former classmate of Dr. Eddie's.

Wallace picked Sheeketski up on the refuse coal heap of his home town in Bellaire, O., a kid with a voracious appetite for learning, a fund of football knack and no financial means . . . but let Frank tell it, as he set it to me:

"We like to think back here in Ohio," writes Wallace, "that this is the best football breeding ground of the country. We pride ourselves that our kids grow thicker through the chest, longer in the leg and bonier in the skeleton than anywhere else. So, as a kid graduate of the local high school, Joe had been overlooked in the general college scramble. He was wiry, fast, but generally below the physical standard that college coaches like—the big, bulging, bone-crushing types.

"Bellaire is a small town. Everybody knows each other. So I knew Joe, distantly, as an ambitious kid with no more than modest athletic promise. I had sent Knute Rockne a number of pretty able kids, and he respected my judgment. So this time I decided to do a boy a good turn, with no particular hope that he'd make the varsity.

"I liked Joe's enthusiasm, the spark in his eye and the fact that he wanted a college education for its own sake—not for the football adventure. There was a sort of fascination about his dogged persistence and the way he put his 160 pounds into blocking and tackling kids half again his size.

"So I went up to South Bend that summer and told Rock, 'Here's a kid who probably will never make your first team and may not even make your second. He's just a good shock trooper. But I'm not giving him to you for football. He may never get any roars from the crowd or have his name in headlines—but he'll have an undying ap-

MR. BOSTON

Pastor Is Aiming For Louis Bout | Knox Has Bright Ring Future

By JACK CONWAY

BOB PASTOR looked the part of a finished boxer as he worked out at Buckley's Gym for his ten-round bout with Tony Shucco at the Goodwin Club's heavyweight show at the Garden tomorrow night . . . Pastor is one of the few heavyweights whom Joe Louis was unable to hit in a ten-round tussle . . . Bob is of the opinion he will lift Louis' title if they meet again.

Mr. Boston

Jimmy Jonnston, Pastor's manager, says that Bob will chill Shucco inside of six rounds . . . Pastor proved he could hit in his previous Boston ring engagement which was against Al McCoy . . . Pastor had McCoy on the canvas twice in the early stages of the contest.

Buddy Knox, Western heavyweight sensation who takes on Al McCoy in the other ten-round feature on the Garden card, will be a big loser if he fails to defeat the New England champion . . . Knox is virtually matched to meet Lou Nova of California in the New York Garden, and, of course, will not get the proposed match if McCoy receives the duke . . . In Chicago last summer, Knox won from McCoy . . . As one of the few Irish-American boxers, Knox has a big following and would prove a popular card for the promoters if he could keep winning.

Ray Arcell, handler of champions, will be in Al McCoy's corner . . . Arcell has been training McCoy since the latter moved to New York . . . Ray says frequent bouts have polished up McCoy's boxing and punching and that Al will look like his old self when he sweeps into action tomorrow night.

THERE HAS been a delay in setting a date for the hearing on Suffolk Downs' application for 60 days of racing as a result of the two recent changes in the membership of the Racing Commission . . . It was at first expected that the racing dates for the East Boston track would be approved before the first of the year, but no definite action is now looked for before the first of the year.

The board of directors of Suffolk Downs was to hold a meeting today at which the general racing situation would be discussed . . . Charles F. Adams, chairman of the board of Suffolk Downs, will leave for New Orleans with Mrs. Adams on Friday . . . They will attend the races at the Fair Grounds for several days, after which Mrs. Adams will start for a vacation to Hawaii while her husband journeys to Miami, Fla., to confer with Racing Secretary Charley McLennan . . . James Connors, president of Suffolk Downs, is also planning to visit Florida this winter to witness the racing at Hialeah Park and to talk with horsemen.

Due to a fine spirit of co-operation shown by Charles F. Adams, Judges James E. Dooley of Narragansett Park and Lou Smith of Rockingham Park, the three New England race tracks are in accord on the matter of racing dates.

Dave Wilson Writes From Miami

DAVE WILSON writes interestingly from Miami, Fla., as follows:

"In this land of alligators, they leave no stone unturned to keep tourists from beating hasty retreats for home . . . The newest wrinkle is an animated blizzard display in a local department show window . . . The scene shows people shivering in a heavy snowfall, and has a sound effect which makes the New England hurricane sound like a whisper during church services . . . It can be heard for many blocks along Flagler street, and many of the visiting firemen instinctively turn up their coat collars.

Mort Mahony, the mutuels chieftain, is enjoying a vacation on Miami Beach, pending the opening of Hialeah on Jan. 11 . . . Mort has a secret passion for fire engines and he inspected several departments in cities en route here from Baltimore . . . Jack Letendre, who owns a large [illegible] stock, is reported to be [illegible] . . . The new [illegible] under construction near Hollywood and about [illegible] Miami . . . The track will be completed in time to open [illegible] Jan. 18 in competition with Hialeah Park.

"There is some talk of the new plant operating night racing, but the Florida racing laws must be amended for such a proceedure . . . Tropical Park has a new top dressing on its oval . . . The strip may be a trifle slower than last year, but it will be much safer and more satisfactory to horsemen and fans alike.

"Famous riding stars should take a leaf from the book of Danny Driscoll, the Salem, Mass., jockey . . . Danny is saving his money for a college education when his riding days are over . . . Bobby Goldman, [illegible] for William Ames, got right off the traveling-expenses nut with a healthy daily double . . . Tom Thorp, who was delayed in New York by illness, was on hand in time for the opening day's sport . . . Tom has already launched an extensive probe into the 'Great Blaze' ringing incident.

"Rumors have it Ty Shea will be in the steward's stand when the New Hollywood track opens . . . According to Joe Foley, who is doing the publicity at the new track, the handicapping game used last summer on Chicago tracks will be in vogue at Gulf Stream Park . . . This game permits patrons to shoot at a large cash prize hung out by the management for only the price of a program."

McCoy's ring future is very bright," said Arcell . . . "There is still no real challenger for Joe Louis . . . The public won't accept an inexperienced boxer like Lou Nova on the strength of a victory over Tommy Farr who was never a top heavyweight . . . Max Baer is still a boxing question mark . . . If McCoy can stop Knox and win one or two more important bouts he can step into the big money in the heavyweight division . . . I don't claim McCoy can beat Joe Louis, but he has as much chance of accomplishing this feat as any other heavy

Sign for Silver Skates

Entry Blank Published First Time

By WALTER KILEY

The Silver Skates Derby fun is on.

News that the annual speed skating championships were once again to be held, with the Boston Evening American-Sunday Advertiser throwing the big party on Sunday afternoon, January 22, at Boston Garden, met with ready response.

Today our male and female speed stars can begin to join up.

An entry blank, the only official blank, appears for the first time today and will be printed daily and Sunday for the next few weeks.

Prospective entrants are urged to sign, seal and mail at once, that the directors can line up the title [illegible] and get the heats figured up.

REGISTER NOW

The blank carries all the necessary instructions.

It shows the age classifications run the way from the midgets under 12 to the seniors over 18 and up to 80.

It will be noticed that the Silver Skates Derby is sanctioned by the New England Skating Association—which means that skaters competing in the senior division, those over 18, must be registered with this body.

The New England registration fee is 25 cents. Do not, however, send such fees to the Boston American. The N. E. Skating Association handles such matters.

The Silver Skates is free to contestants from any part of New England. All are welcome. From indications the biggest number of participants in the four year history of the Derby will be on hand when the gun barks the opening field underway.

TEAM PRIZE, TOO

There will be fine prizes for the winners, with the Silver Skates once again as top awards.

There will be the usual team rivalry with a special prize for the team of five from the one organization which turns in the best showing.

As will be noted on the blank, each contestant may skate in but ONE class, that class to which he belongs by virtue of his years.

To follow the Silver Skates news and doings, watch this daily column. Pertinent facts will be listed daily.

In the meanwhile get the entry blanks in AT ONCE.

Ruth After Radio Job

NEW YORK, Dec. 2. (INS)—The voice that beckoned Brooklyn's baseball players around the bases last season may detail games over the radio when the broadcasting of New York contests starts next year.

This was indicated today when Babe Ruth, apparently convinced that no major league club wants him as a manager, asserted that "I'm in the field as a candidate for a job at the 'mike.'" The Dodgers and Giants already have decided to broadcast their games next year, but the Yankees are undecided.

"I haven't a thing to do next season, and the possibility of radio broadcasting appeals to me," said the Babe, recalling the success that crowned Charlie Grimm's efforts when he took up baseball broadcasting in Chicago after being ousted as the Cubs' manager. Ruth was a coach on the Brooklyn club part of the 1938 season.

MacFayden Third in Earned Runs

Johnny Vander Meer's two successive no-hit, no-run games were the pitching highlights of the 1938 National League season, but Danny MacFayden's earned run average of 2.95 was the feature from a Boston viewpoint, official averages, released today, revealed only Bill Lee of Chicago and Paul Derringer of Cincinnati surpassed Danny in this respect.

Lou Fette, No. 16 in the list with 3.15, and Jim Turner, No. 12 with 3.46, were next in line among the Bees' regular hurlers.

Danny, after a most inauspicious start, came fast through midseason and ran up the fine average of 14 games won and nine lost to lead the team's pitchers.

BILL LEE STANDOUT

Vander Meer blanked Boston on June 11 without a hit or a run and repeated the stunt four nights later against Brooklyn under the Ebbets Field arc lights. It was the first time in majo. league history that such a feat had been performed.

By pitching 21 2-3 consecutive hitless innings, Vander Meer broke another record, bettering the run of 17 1-3 innings made by Dazzy Vance in June, 1925.

Vander Meer had the longest winning streak of the season, nine straight, and Bill McGee had the longest losing streak, also nine straight.

MULCAHY DID WELL

Although Young Hughie Mulcahy of the Phils lost the most games during the course of the season—20—it is interesting to note that he pitched a two-hit game against Boston on May 1 and three hitters against Brooklyn and Cincinnati during the month of September.

Mulcahy is a Brighton high product, who may land with Bobby Hartnett's Cubs before the 1939 season gets under way.

Bill Lee of the Cubs not only led the league in earned run percentage but also in games won with 22.9 count.

Gottselig Adds To Ice Lead

MONTREAL, Dec. 19 (AP) — Johnny Gottselig, lanky Chicago Winger who has topped the National Hockey League scoring list since the start of the season, picked up four points during the past week while none of his close rivals could gain more than two.

As a result his margin of leadership in the latest list from league headquarters was stretched to five points.

Donchin Risks Mat Crown

It will be Myer "Curly" Donchin, Jersey City, vs. Mike Rogoski, Poland, for the world junior heavyweight championship in the feature two out of three falls match of Sam Pryor's wrestling show tomorrow night at the Boston Arena.

It may be that Rogoski, Polish Hercules, will lift the crown from Donchin, Jewish Jolter.

Curly Donchin

This would mark an unusual incident in sports history, a champion losing his crown in his first defense.

Only two weeks ago Donchin drubbed Steve Passas, ending the long reign of the Greek marvel over the 180-200 pound wrestling division which is recognized by the N. B. A.

Other bouts tomorrow night will be Steve Passas vs. Frankie James, the semifinal; Frenchy LaBelle vs. Faro Renaldi, Tiger Flowers vs. Pete Janco, Jim Wallis, Holy Cross, vs. the Syrian Kid and Sid Markey vs. Fred Bruno.

Trenton May Shift Club to Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Dec. 20 (AP) — Resumption of organized baseball in Springfield was predicted today by President Thomas Richardson of the Eastern League, here to assist Joe Cambria, Trenton club owner, in negotiations for a ball park. Richardson said Cambria planned to transfer his franchise to this city in two weeks.

Cambria said that Trenton had received financial support from the Washington Senators and was confident Clark Griffith would retain his interest after the transfer.

AS EARLY AS 1750, trim New England ships were carrying cargoes of cod and halibut to the Barbados. There, the Yankee skippers traded the fish for casks of cane sugar molasses. Back in Boston, distillers processed the molasses into rich, flavorful liquor. This was the "liquid gold" with which the Colonists bartered for the commerce of the world — the famous good, old NEW ENGLAND RUM.

Jacobs Arranges Baer-Nova Bout

By the Associated Press

Mike Jacobs will announce that Baer-Nova bout tomorrow. He's waiting to hear from madcap Max now and plans a two-week vacation in Florida when the fight is made.

Miguel is a touch peeved over the National Boxing Association's rating of Tony Galento as the No. 1 challenger to Joe Louis. Mike rates Galento no better than eighth on his own list, which has John Henry Lewis, Baer and Nova bracketed on the top rung. By a strange prank of fate Lewis will fight the champion next, and either Baer or Nova will have a shot at him in 1939.

Pro Sports Stage Big Comeback

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 (AP)—The striking increase in attendance and interest in professional sports, particularly pro football, was singled out today as the outstanding sports trend of 1938.

More than 50 separate trends were noted by the 70 sports editors participating in the eighth annual Associated Press sports poll but the main emphasis was placed on the growth of professional attractions with pro football as the bell-wether.

Better showmanship was credited with at least a share in the upward move in attendance not only for football but also for baseball and racing. Rules changes, it was noted, had speeded up such other games as hockey, basketball and college football with beneficial results at the box office.

A sharp increase in the number of women fans helped baseball attendance and both baseball and football were aided by the increase in night games.

Oddly enough the general attendance rise in spectator sports has been accompanied by a remarkable growth in such participation sports as skiing, skating, bowling, badminton and soft-ball although one observer thought the last-named sport was on the downgrade.

SCORING HEAVIER

A long series of trends, largely technical, were noted in football, especially the college brand. Among those were the trends toward heavier scoring, more field goals, greater use of the forward pass as a consistent gainer, increased use of sideline punting, a sharp let-down in lateral passing and other forms of "razzle dazzle" in favor of less risky offensive maneuvers, and heavy increased use of the reverse.

Although one observer felt there was less recruiting and subsidizing in college football, others remarked on a general easing of the official bans of such practices. Several made a point of the tremendous growth of six-man and 150-pound football as well as increased interest in the high school brand. Others noted a better balance between small and large college football indicating less concentration of football material in the big schools.

YANKS SUPREME

In baseball, several critics drew attention to the unprecedented epidemic of sore arms among outstanding pitchers and concluded that the lively ball could be blamed at least in part.

Noted also was the New York Yankees complete domination of major league baseball and the efforts of their rivals to match the world champions in sheer power.

Lower golf scores were accompanied by decreased interest in tournament golf in the opinion of several sports editors. Others commented on the decline in boxing and wrestling, especially the latter.

Other trends noted included: Increased emphasis on the team rather than the individual; increased capitalizing on sports reputations by outstanding stars; the widespread hiring of minor league figures as major league managers, and the overbalance of the offense in almost every sport.

Handle Light At Tropical

TROPICAL PARK, Fla., Dec. 20 (INS)—Tropical Park opened the Florida racing season here with a near-capacity crowd in attendance.

The handle was a trifle light considering the size of the gathering, but the management predicted the best season since the track's first opening in 1932.

Townsend S. Martin's Galapas, a colt which runs his best races in Florida, took the feature Inaugural Handicap in easy style.

Well handled by Robertson, the son of Sir Gallahad III scampered home two lengths to the good in 1:12.

The time was exceptional, considering that the track has been made much slower than it was last year, due to a new top dressing.

Brimsek Seeks 3d Straight Shutout

Dutton's Americans Here To Halt Bruins Streak

By BILL GRIMES

After a most successful road trip, during which they shut out both Les Canadiens and Red Wings, the Bruins are home for a three game stay, starting with New York Americans tonight at the Garden.

The Rossmen are rapidly outdistancing the other contenders for the N. H. L. title. They are firmly installed in first place, three games out in front of two New York clubs. They have amassed a total of 23 out of a possible 28 points by winning 11 games, tying one and losing two, one of which went to the Americans.

Improving by leaps and bounds is Jack Crawford, who teams with Dit Clapper on second defense line for Bruins. Crawford and B's face Americans tonight at Garden.

The Bruins have been clicking since the opening game, and, since Frankie Brimsek has been their regular goal guardian, opponents have experienced considerable difficulty even scoring on them, let alone winning.

Since he took over the assignment Tiny Thompson had so capably filled for 10 years, Brimsek has allowed only four goals in six games. And he has blanked the enemy in four out of his last five starts.

Brimsek has had only seven goals scored against him this season in the N. H. L. He gave the Maple Leafs two in the opening game of the season in Toronto. Three nights later, the Red Wings managed to beat him for a lone tally in Detroit. Then he was sent to Providence and missed the next four Bruin games.

Upon his return, as the regular goalie, he didn't get off to an auspicious start, for the Bruins were shut out by Les Canadiens, who beat him for a first period tally and another in the final chapter on a break-away play following an unsuccessful power play on the part of the Rosemen.

Then he startled the fans of both this country and Canada by shutting out Chicago in both ends of a home and home series and blanking Rangers.

The Flying Frenchmen broke his unscored upon record a week ago tonight but Frankie came right back and held Canadiens and Red Wings scoreless.

Due to his sensational work, Brimsek is leading all N. H. L. goal minders with an average of .78, which is more than a full point lower than Tiny Thompson, his nearest rival.

The Americans have displayed surprising strength this season. They are the only club which has broke even with the Rossmen, and Manager Dutton is confident his charges will have the edge when they start home after tonight's game.

"THE THING THAT MADE ROCKNE GREAT," continues Wallace, "wasn't entirely his knack for teaching football. He had a deep-rooted human understanding, a rare sympathy. Rock simply said, 'Send him out. I'll see him through.' So Sheckelski is probably the only college football player in America who was ever sold, or 'prose-lyted,' if you prefer—as a scrub player.

"The strange part of it was that Joe's hollows and flats began to fill out from the first good, solid and plentiful food he had ever had. He added ten pounds in his freshman year and when it came time to report for the varsity squad, his puny, scrawny frame was a fine series of muscular bulges and ripples. He was ready.

"Coupled with that he had a flair for scholarship and an instinctive way of doing what Rock wanted after being shown how. He used to haunt Rockne's little house on the edge of the college yard and, during off season, drink up all the football lore he could squeeze out of the old master.

"And so it was, after his sophomore year when Joe was the Notre Dame regular blocking back, Rockne told me, 'This boy isn't going to teach school; he's going to coach football. He has the best grasp of technique of any kid I've coached.' And it proved to be so, although Rockne was killed in the spring of that year and Joe worked the rest of his college time under Hunk Anderson."

IF IT HADN'T BEEN FOR FRANCIS WALLACE, and his urge to help hometown kids, there wouldn't be any current controversy over Sheckelski's contract. Joe might now be a miner in the Bellaire coal pits.

In a way it will be a pity if Joe doesn't get his big opportunity to fulfill his life's dream—as head coach of a major college team. Holy Cross, at least, offers him a chance to crown his success-legend. As far as he is concerned he is determined to return to Worcester.

In reply to my wired inquiry this morning he replied, tersely but definitely, "Have signed with Holy Cross. Happy and proud to be retained as head coach—(signed) Joe Sheckelski."

Quinn Aids Shadow in Robert Go

The Shadow, mystery-hooded wrestler from the West, feels quite confident he will down Yvon Robert, former world's champion, when they meet Thursday night in the main event of Promoter Paul Bowser's all-star tournament at the Garden.

Yvon Robert

And the chief reason is that Eddie Quinn, one of the sharpest managers in the wrestling business, will be in the hooded grappler's corner.

It is the same Quinn who used to manage Robert, but chucked over that job when The Shadow came along.

"That fact's going to mean plenty," said The Shadow.

"Quinn knows all of Robert's tricks and he has told me everything the Frenchman knows about wrestling.

"I'd have beaten him anyway, but with Quinn seconding me it is a positive cinch."

The semifinal is creating plenty of steam among mat followers, and especially Gus Sonnenberg followers, for the chunky former champion goes against Wee Willie Davis, a 290 pounder from Chicago.

KID CHOCOLATE QUITS

HAVANA, Dec. 20 (INS)—Retirement of Kid Chocolate, former world's featherweight champion, was announced today by his managers, Pincho Guitierrez and Jess Losado.
